

PLANNING SCREENING SYSTEM

Client: Oxford County

Malone Given Parsons Ltd. developed the Municipal Planning Screening System for Oxford County. This application is intended to ensure the conformity of development applications with Provincial Policy requirements. This project required a detailed understanding of the property database that exists in Oxford. This database is based on linked Assessment and POLARIS parcels and a full range of spatial and attribute data, including property resource and environmental data that is required in order to implement Provincial Policy Statements.

The Project required the creation of a detailed database model and a thorough review of the planning business processes in Oxford County. It also required a strong understanding of the Provincial Policy Statements and their data requirements.
